Arkansas Holds Onto Political Advantage

In our editorial last Thursday, June 8, advocating re-election of U.S. Senator John L. McClellan in the Democratic runoff we suggested:

"A senatorial election, unlike any other campaign, makes it advisable for the voter to consider top-level strategy rather than personal preference. . . . Arkansas has McClellan with all the committee power acquired in 30 years' service; Fulbright with 28 years' seniority . . . and in the House Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the Ways & Means Committee, the most powerful single unit in American government."

There were other issues in the campaign but this, I believe, was the one Arkansas voters had uppermost in their minds when they renominated McClellan on Tuesday for his sixth term in the Senate.

Other factors were Big Labor's endorsement of young David Pryor, and the problematical effect of the McClellan-Pryor television debate. On Monday, June 12, election eve, I gave my objective opinion, as an ex-college debater, that McClellan clobbered Pryor. The election returns seem to support this judgment.

On the other hand Pryor had voluntarily hung around his neck the millstone of Big Labor's endorsement. Once before this same factor entered into a Senate election—McClellan's closest call up to the present one. In 1954 former Governor Sid McMath, a Labor attorney, challenged McClellan for the Senate but was defeated.

Some observers pointed out in the runoff campaign that no incumbent who managed a plurality but failed of a majority in the preferential primary ever won in the runoff.

On the other hand the record shows no Labor-endorsed candidate ever won for top-level office in Arkansas. Yesterday McClellan overturned the first precedent and reinforced the second.

For whatever personal trust the people of our area placed in The Star's judgment of yesterday's election we are grateful. McClellan carried Hempstead county but lost Nevada in the preferential. But yesterday he won in both counties. In fact he carried the southwestern bloc of counties: Hempstead, Nevada, Howard, Miller, and LaFayette.

The complete election tables appear elsewhere in today's Star—a next-day report to the people on individual precincts.

Podgorny is off to Hanoi

CALCUTTA (AP) — Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny is on his way to Hanoi for talks with North Vietnam's leaders. He arrived in Calcutta today and called for the Americans to stop bombing North Vietnam.

"The Vietnam problem should be solved fast and the Americans should cease bombing there," Podgorny told newsmen.

He had been scheduled to spend only an hour in Calcutta while his plane was refueled. But aides said the departure was delayed until Thursday morning because of bad weather.

There was also speculation that U.S. fighter-bombers will be kept well away from the Hanoi area during Podgorny's visit.

Bombers fly record VN strike

By RICHARD PYLE
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — American fighter-bombers flew a record 340 strikes against North Vietnam on Tuesday and blasted at least nine more railroad bridges, including four on the northwest line to China and three between Hanoi and Haiphong, the U.S. Command said today.

It was the largest number of strikes in one day since the resumption two months ago of daily intensified bombing to paralyze North Vietnam's supply and communications lines.

The closest of the bridges to China was 45 miles from the border. Peking charged that raids earlier this week within 25 miles of the border threatened China's security and were "grave provocations against the Chinese people."

Only one B52 mission over North Vietnam was reported today, a three-plane raid on supply dumps 20 miles northwest of Dong Hoi. But the big bombers pounded North Vietnamese troop concentrations and staging areas along South Vietnam's western border with Laos and Cambodia.

About 20 of the giant bombers dropped 500 tons of explosives in the A Shau Valley hard by the Laotian border. The target was North Vietnamese troops 25 to 30 miles southwest of Hue, who reportedly are targeted against the former imperial capital.

Along the Cambodian border half a dozen of the Stratofortresses attacked troops of two North Vietnamese regiments that have been assaulting the district town of Tuyen Binh and the provincial capital of Moc Hoa.

McClellan wins easily; Odom is re-nominated

More than 6,000 Hempstead Countians joined the majority of other voters in the state Tuesday and handed Sen. John L. McClellan a sixth term in the U.S. Senate. In the only local race in the county, County Judge Finis Odom squeaked by his opponent Carter Sutton, county assessor, by a mere 74 votes.

McClellan collected 3,599 votes locally, compared to Pryor's total of 2,476. In the June 30 preferential primary, McClellan got 3,320 and Pryor settled with 2,680.

Ward 3—the first box to come in last night—set the precedent by giving McClellan a 177 to 86 edge on Pryor.

In neighboring Nevada County, McClellan edged Pryor, 1,640 to 1,468.

In the only local race in Howard County, Ed Reese won the Democratic nomination for re-election as county judge by a 10-vote margin—2,002 to 1,992—over opponent David Young.

Two weeks ago, after Rep. David Pryor, 37, forced the 76-year-old McClellan into a runoff, political observers counted the senator among the defeated.

After a vigorous primary campaign, McClellan led Pryor 241,712 to 222,959 in virtually complete returns from 2,592 precincts.

McClellan, seeking a sixth six-year term—a term he says will be his last, faces token opposition in the general election from Republican Wayne Babbitt, a veterinarian who has never sought a major office before.

"I am humble in victory," McClellan told riotously happy supporters in his victory statement. He said he had relaxed during the day, confident of victory in a race one pollster said was too close to call. Another poll predicted a McClellan defeat.

"I could not believe the people would repudiate the record I have tried to make," said McClellan, who capitalized on his Senate seniority and power throughout the campaign. He rebuked Pryor as a congressman with virtually no record, a lawmaker who had passed only one bill, that to benefit a large corporation.

Pryor, who gave up a "safe" seat in Arkansas' 4th District to seek promotion to the Senate, told his crestfallen supporters, "I took a big chance. No one urged me to do it. I have no regrets about it."

The young congressmen, who had won three terms in the Arkansas House and three in the U.S. House in a 12-year career, said he was making his first concession speech.

McClellan's campaign workers maintained that the senator's criticism of Pryor's financial support from organized labor elements outside Arkansas and poor showing in a televised debate with the senator Sunday turned the tide in the runoff. They conceded that an all-out effort to get out the vote at the county level was a key factor in the victory.

All Around Town

The Bobcats of Hope have been confirmed as an official entry in the first National AAU Junior Olympic Boys Basketball Championship, to be held June 14-17 in Popular Bluff, Missouri. Representing the Arkansas Association AAU in the midjet division, age 9-11, the team will compete with 11 teams from all parts of the United States for the crown. The junior division, age 12-13, will include 15 contesting teams.

Hempstead County Democratic Central Committee will meet Friday, June 16 at 2 p.m. in Hope City Hall Courtroom to certify the vote of Tuesday, June 13.

The 17th annual reunion of the 2nd ARMD "Hell-On-Wheels

Division veterans will have their annual reunion at the El Tropicana Motor Hotel, San Antonio, Texas. "Hell On Wheelers" may write to Col. R. F. Perry, P. O. Box 8116, Wainwright Station, San Antonio, Texas 78208, for more information.

The Commissioners of The Housing Authority will not meet in regular session on Thursday, June 15, 1972, as a special meeting was held on June 5.

Jimmy Easterling of Hope has been notified by Acme Boot Company that he is the winner of a pair of western boots. Easterling entered the Acme Boot Picking Time contest as featured on the Friday night Grand Ole Opry radio show on an entry blank from Overturf's Family Shoe Store.

Pryor also had strong support from young voters and he urged his youthful supporters not to turn against the political system just because he had lost. He urged them to continue to work with him to make the system work.

The size of Pryor's vote leaves him as a dominant figure in Arkansas politics, even in defeat, but he said Tuesday night that he did not know if he would ever seek office again.

Early in the evening, while McClellan's lead fluctuated between 5,000 and 10,000 votes, Pryor's supporters said they still expected to win when votes came in from the 24 South Arkansas district counties.

When the votes were in, McClellan had carried 13 counties and stayed close to call. Meanwhile he built up his margins in most of the counties where he led the ticket May 30.

Through a grueling three months of campaigning, McClellan reminded voters that he was the fourth senior man in the Senate and that his power and prestige were of immeasurable benefit to Arkansas. He ran at a pace worthy of a much younger man.

Prescott youth drowns

Nevada County Sheriff Arthur Wicker said today that William Stewart, 16, of Prescott drowned yesterday when he and a companion tried to swim across a gravel pit about eight miles north of Prescott.

Wicker said Stewart was fishing with two companions, Randy Garrett and Roy Steed. He said Garrett and Stewart attempted to swim across the pit when Stewart went under about 60 feet short of the bank. Garrett reportedly attempted to save Stewart, but his efforts were unsuccessful, Wicker said.

The youth's body was recovered about an hour after the accident. Funeral services are pending.

McClellan believed 'loser' a week ago

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Men in the campaign of Sen. John L. McClellan believed their candidate was a loser a week ago unless they could blunt the winning momentum Rep. David Pryor built in the Democratic preferential primary.

They feel the senator seized the initiative last week, but were not sure it was in time to catch up before Tuesday's runoff election.

Hatfield winner in 3rd District

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Guy Hatfield of Rogers, a 65-year-old retired actor, won the Democratic nomination for Congress in Arkansas' Third District Tuesday with a solid runoff victory over Howard Guess Cain Jr. of Huntsville in a race of newcomers to politics. Hatfield will face Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt, a Republican, in the November general election. Hammerschmidt, seeking a fourth term, was unopposed for the GOP nomination.

Hammerschmidt will be a prohibitive favorite in the general election. He has accumulated broad-based bi-partisan support in the district since he upset Rep. James W. Trimble in 1966.

With 668 of 672 precincts in the 21-county district reported, Hatfield had 53,178 votes and Cain had 47,247. A third candidate, Milton Emerson Stolberg of Aawayton, was eliminated in the preferential primary May 30.

Cain took an early lead as votes were tabulated Tuesday night, but Hatfield surged in front when the bulk of the Sebastian County vote came in. Sebastian County went for Hatfield by a margin of 10,453 to 6,109.

Besides Sebastian, Hatfield carried Benton, Carroll, Crawford, Franklin, Garland, Johnson, Logan, Montgomery, Perry, Pope, Polk, Scott and Washington counties. Cain carried Baxter, Boone, Madison, Marion, Newton and Searcy counties.

Wallace hopes on 'deadlock'

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace has pinned his hopes on a deadlocked convention and the support of other governors to boost him into a spot on the Democratic ticket, says his campaign manager.

"He's going to call on all his colleagues—Southern governors and other governors—and ask them to support him," campaign chief Charles F. Snider told a news conference Tuesday.

Wallace is "more confident than I've ever seen him," Snider said after a strategy session at Holy Cross Hospital, where the governor is recuperating from gunshot wounds.

Wallace's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination was interrupted when he was shot May 15 at a campaign rally, but Snider said the campaign goes on.

"We can't see at this time any contender getting the nomination on the first or even the second ballot," Snider said. "We felt all along if it goes past the first ballot, Wallace has the best chance. There's no way the Democrats can win against an incumbent president without George C. Wallace on the ticket."

Obituaries

MRS. LEONA DOWNS

Mrs. Leona B. Downs of Hope died Friday June 9.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Marie Jones of Hope, Mrs. Nancy Mayton of Taylor, and Mrs. Selma Treadwell of Marshall, Texas.

Funeral services were held Sunday at the Oakcrest chapel.

"But David let us get back into the race," said one McClellan aide.

The senator's forces believe key factors in McClellan's victory were the effort to get out a big vote, success at making "anti-Pryor" voters of persons enamored of neither candidate, the "mess of trash" letters and possibly, the big television debate.

They also think Pryor mistakenly sat on his hands in the first few days after the first primary when he had the momentum going his way.

Analysts of McClellan's campaign feel that, among persons unhappy at the prospect of voting for either candidate, it became more palatable to vote for the senator because of the allegations that Pryor was obligated to labor and had been ineffective as a legislator.

In addition, McClellan's allegations that Pryor opposed prayer and supported busing and amnesty for draft evaders, all denied by the congressman, "convinced those who should have been for McClellan in the first place to vote for him," said an aide, who did not want to be identified.

"Suddenly, more was at stake than voting for a young man or an old man," he said.

Pryor had said the letters written by former state Supreme Court Justice Jim Johnson calling McClellan's opponents "sniveling liberals" and "a mess of trash" would harm the senator, but the McClellan people believe it may have worked to their advantage by diverting attention from the anti-McClellan issues.

"Since the day the letter broke, there was no word in the newspapers about conflict of interest, wealth or age versus youth," said the aide.

McClellan was among those Tuesday night who claimed the debate had an influence in the election, and said he trapped Pryor into it. The congressman had issued the challenge for the debate.

"In politics, when you go out challenging and challenging, you may make a mistake," the senator said. "They didn't want the debate, but they didn't think I would accept. I pretended to be reluctant until they were too far out on a limb to back up."

The McClellan aide said that "if there were any votes of any consequence" to get out of the debate, "we got them."

"We gained momentum partly because of our work and partly because Pryor let us," he said.

City hires new officers

Billy Wayne Smith, at left, a former member of the Prescott Police Department, and Fred McCulley of the Hempstead County Sheriff's Department, have been added to the city police force. Smith resides in Blevins with his wife, Dorothy, and their son, Gary, and started work June 1. McCulley resides in Hope with his wife, Rita, and daughter, Suzanne and will assume duties June 15.

Unhappiness is... ...being defeated

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — David Pryor went into his apartment about 8:30 p.m. Tuesday and did not come out until 10:15 p.m., but then he knew he had lost.

Three Little Rock policemen stood guard at the door, admitting persons only after they had identified themselves. One policeman explained that the tightened security was due to a fire bomb thrown at the Pryor headquarters earlier in the day.

Friends and associates trickled into the apartment and emerged unsmiling.

Pryor's first comment, while standing at the elevators on his way to make a concession speech at his headquarters a half-block away was: "We fought him hard—it was a good race."

The comment was apparently directed at Pros. Atty. Sam Weems of Des Arc, who said Pryor had been best man at his wedding.

At the Sheraton Inn, where the Pryor camp was entrenched, people overflowed into the halls from a large meeting room and cheered when Pryor made his way to a platform.

He stood at the microphone, with his wife Barbara holding onto his arm, and listened to Sen. John L. McClellan's acceptance speech. Jeers broke out through the audience, but Pryor lifted his hands to silence his supporters.

Later he told them he did not want them to feel any "bitterness" because he had lost.

Pryor said it was the first concession speech he had to make in his life, one-third of which he said he had spent in public life.

The congressman said before coming before his supporters, he had telephoned McClellan.

"The real test is not when you accept victory—it is when you accept defeat," he said.

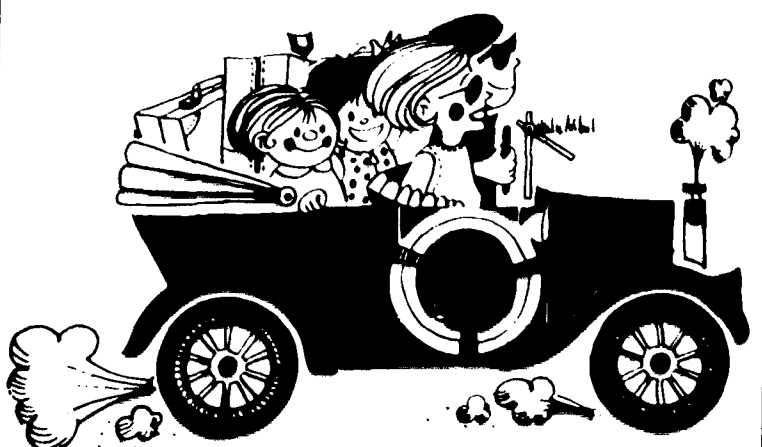

"I have no regrets...I though we ran a good campaign," he said. "I think we ran a clean campaign."

The crowd applauded. Before Pryor's appearance, several supporters crowded around television sets and said they had run a "clean campaign."

"I'd rather lose and be able to hold my head up," one woman said.

"I think we ran a splendid campaign," the congressman told the crowd.

"This was one of the hardest races" in the history of the state, he said.

Circle 5, W.S.C.S., met Monday, June 12, in the home of Mrs. Herman Wilson with Mrs. Winfred Huckabee, co-hostess. Mrs. Paul Rawson, a special guest, was introduced by Mrs. Herman Smith, and she recreated the events of a recent 15-day trip she had made to Europe and the Holy Land.

The group of 35 travelers visited New York, Rome, Athens, Corinth, Israel, and en route home, Switzerland and London. The major part of the trip was spent in the Holy Land, and the speaker had small maps of Israel which her listeners followed during her narrative. She pointed out the sharp contrasts found between modern Tel Aviv and the old City of Jerusalem, the peaceful quiet of the Sea of Galilee and the deathly stillness of the Dead Sea, the modern garb of bikini-clad swimmers and the old-world costumes of the Arab natives.

In the absence of the Circle Chairman, the presiding officer was the secretary, Mrs. Huckabee, who was also one of the hostesses. She welcomed the members and several guests, the speaker, Mrs. C. M. McCauley of Rison, and Mrs. Arch Wylie, local president of the W.S.C.S.

Extension Homemakers Club
The Shover Springs Extension Homemakers Club met Thursday, June 9, in the home of Mrs. Melvin Luker. The meeting was opened by Mrs. Jimmy Williams, the president, reading the Thought of the Month, "The Language of friendship is not in words but meanings. It is an intelligence above language."

Mrs. Homer Poindexter led in singing "You Are My Sunshine." Mrs. Williams gave the devotion and also the eye-opener and lesson, "Selection and Care of Ranges." Mrs. Bob Dillard gave a leader's report on "How to Screen Outdoor Porches for a Room."

The roll call by Mrs. Bob Dillard was answered by ten members telling "Problems I Have in Caring for My Range." The minutes were read and approved and other business took place. Mrs. Jimmy Williams read a poem. The meeting was closed by all reading the Woman's Creed. Cakes, coffee or cold drinks were served to the members and eight children. The July meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Charles Burch.

Country Club Dance
A mixed bouquet of summer flowers was used to decorate the Hope Country Club on Saturday, June 10, when about 25 couples met for an evening of dancing to taped music. A buffet table held assorted snacks and was available throughout the evening for the dancers' enjoyment.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Butler and Mr. and Mrs. Yancey Reynolds were the host couples.

Miss Penny Burke Honored
On June 6 the home of Mrs. Henry Burke was the setting for a gift tea in honor of Miss Penny Burke, bride elect of Billy W. Bussey.

In the receiving line the guests met the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Irvin Burke. Miss Burke was attired in a long crepe dress and pinned a daisy corsage at her shoulder.

Beautiful arrangements of daisies and magnolia were seen throughout the house where the guests enjoyed cake squares and frosted lime punch from a table overlaid with a white lace cloth. The centerpiece was an arrangement of white and yellow daisies.

Assisting in the hospitality were Mesdames Jimmy Arnold, Richard Arnold, Roy Roberts, and Leonard Canarsky.

Dr. and Mrs. John Scott
Andrews, Little Rock, will be leaving June 19 for San Francisco, where he will do his residency at Letterman General Hospital. Dr. Andrews visited in the Andy Andrews home last week.

Double Standard in Reverse

Dear Helen:
My wife had a conscience-crisis and confessed to me an extra-marital affair which she'd had during one of my business trips. I took her word that it was the first—and last—time and, because she was so deep into hating herself, I tried to reassure her. I guess I did wrong.

The fact is, I have not been with another woman since our marriage, 21 years ago. But to stop my wife's tears that night, I "confessed" I had had my moments too; thus we were even and could start over.

I can truthfully say I forgave and forgot—for I assumed part of the blame. I have spent more time on my business than on her in recent years and am now trying to make up for this.

But my wife won't let my so-called past die. She keeps digging for details about the affair I was supposed to have had. She tries to trap me into naming the woman, and I'm sure she suspects several of our friends. She is showing a jealousy I never knew and, I must admit, she's become a great deal more loving. In fact, since our joint confessions—hers real, mine make-believe—our married life has shifted into high. It's no longer a 21-year habit.

The only problem is: her questions. Should I tell her the truth to keep her quiet or just keep on—CHANGING THE SUBJECT?

Dear CTS:
Tell her the truth. She'll never believe you (and be glad that because she now appreciates you as a man other women want). However, if you answer her questions casually with "Look, I didn't have an affair, so let's forget it," she'll soon realize she can't get the details, and she'll file her jealousy with yours in the box labeled, "Forgiveness: Lesson Learned." —H.

P.S. Thanks for proving all men don't fly the double standard.

Dear Helen:
When our children were growing up, we parents scoured our brains for ways to make them enjoy and appreciate religion. They rejected it, played hooky from Sunday School and spent the collection money on candy. Later they simply refused to attend church with us or be involved in what many implied were "myths." So we mostly gave up.

But now, suddenly, young people by the hundred-thousands are in the Jesus Movement. And they're saying we elders aren't true Christians because we don't beat the drum or evangelize or believe exactly as they do concerning the Bible.

With the fervor of revivalists our kids are telling us we're headed for Hell because WE are playing hooky from God. Never mind that we're basically good, honest people. In their book, if you haven't been "born again," you're doomed, and you'll get yours at the Second Coming!

Last year I worried about illegal drugs. This year, my child is worrying about ME! I don't understand what's happened, and I find it hard to adjust. Could we hear from you and other parents? Are they also—BAFFLED!

Dear Baffled:
It's difficult for most elders to understand or comprehend the intense Jesus Movement, growing as it did out of the "anything goes" 60s.

But really, isn't this the pendulum swing many of us predicted? Feeling threatened (by war, drugs, a general breakdown of rules—even sex), they're on a search for security. They want guidelines, a faith to live by, the assurance that a very personal Someone cares. (The fact that they discovered Him by themselves, without the help of parents, makes Him that much more personal. It also explains in part why we're accused of "playing hooky.")

When these kids sign their letters "Love and Peace" they truly mean it, because they believe they have found The Source. This belief in God lets them feel protected and they desperately want that, for they've learned the freedom they once demanded often carried a high price tag.

Can I understand the total dedication of the new Jesus People who only a while ago rejected or at least ignored the Bible? Frankly, no. But I like most of what I see except for the few extremists and faddists). As one mother wrote, "My son is now following rules so strict that few modern parents would dare suggest them: no liquor, no sex, no swearing, no fighting (even with family!) no drugs, no cheating...I'm amazed—and a little frightened, though I'm not sure why. If Jesus can accomplish THIS miracle, walking on the water is small-time stuff!"

No wonder parents are baffled. Some even suspect they are being replaced—which might account for their fear.

P.S. As I write this, over 100,000 young people of all races and creeds have converged on Dallas for the week-long "Explo-72" sponsored by Campus Crusade for Christ (June 12-17). It's a sort of religious-Woodstock which may shake that Texas city to its very roots. You'll be hearing a great deal more about Explo in the next few days. —HELEN

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Television, often accused of luring the public away from reading, really is one of the best friends of publishers. Authors appear on talk shows and discussion sessions, contribute their expertise and in exchange plug their books.

But publishers are worried now because some of their best showcases are disappearing.

David Frost quits at season's end. Dick Cavett may not survive beyond October. The book publishing business is largely concentrated in New York and Johnny Carson has moved to Hollywood. Merv Griffin, already in California, doesn't use authors very often these days.

A top program in most publishers' book is NBC's "Today Show."

"Today's" book editor, Jane Murphy, estimates that three or four authors are interviewed weekly.

"Dick Cavett likes authors and almost every one enjoys appearing on 'The Mike Douglas Show' because they are treated well," said one publisher's representative. The other shows are good breaks for the book. But Frost or Carson often get so involved with earlier guests that the author doesn't get on the show after sitting offstage for hours.

Jean Booth, in charge of booking Doubleday authors on shows, recalls with a shudder a couple of nights when Thor Heyerdahl and Jacques Yves Cousteau, both writers of stature, never made it to stage center after long waits. They were not amused.

"I think Arthur Hailey really sold his first book, 'Hotel,' by his television appearances," she said. "It was his personality and then when people read the book they liked it."

"Today's" Miss Murphy said that she has recently felt increased pressures from publishers to book their authors on the show and felt it was due to fewer outlets available in New York.

"We don't know if we sell books because we really don't feel the response," she said. "I've been told, however, that a good guest will result in perhaps an extra printing of a book."

Miss Murphy depends on the publishers' representatives for help in picking authors who would be comfortable on television—ideally as comfortable as Dr. Margaret Mead, Jacqueline Susann and Dr. David Ruben who do very well as their own drum beaters.

With the network outlets diminishing in numbers, the publishers are trying to find some other way of reaching the public by broadcasting. One idea involves using local radio talk shows.

The days of the mad milliner are gone

By ANN HENCKEN
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — To top off the "delightful sanity" of fall fashions, hat designers have brought back plaids, sweater knit caps and wispy veil trimming.

"It's ridiculous to say hats haven't changed," was the word at the Millinery Institute of America fall trends showing Tuesday.

To prove the point, models showed off fantasy creations from days past—abundant ostrich plumes and heavy looking straws, piled with goodies.

"The days of the mad, crazy millinery designer are gone forever...Every hat is intimately related to the clothes a woman will wear," said the moderator.

This year, there are the popular plaid roll brim hats for casual dress headhugging clothes, good with the larger dolman silhouette—bright colors to hold their own with paintbox hues for fall—crocheted tams to top off the sweater look.

The "little hats" turn up in leather, fur or felt. Winter Sundberg offers the white cloche with leather trim for $50. Many designers suggest this look as right with the more generous look of wide-sleeved coats. They're also good on crowded buses. Man-tailored hats go well with the classic sportswear that's been strong and continues into fall. Designer Irene likes a black and red plaid swaggar hat with matching stole for $75. There's also the port pie, the sailor and the snapbrim, to coordinate with pants outfits.

The trend to bright colors is backed up by hats in screaming red or citrus yellow, and a few tricolor combinations.

Wedding vows are repeated

Miss Linda Sue Harris and John Milton Barnes were married Saturday afternoon, May 27, in Sardis Methodist Church, Ozan. A reception followed at the home of Mrs. Erna Harris, mother of the bride.

Parents of the bride are the late E. A. Harris and Mrs. Erna Harris of Ozan. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Claude Barnes of McGehee. The Rev. Joe Jones of Hope solemnized the vows. Piano music was presented by Mrs. Ollie Jones of Ozan. Soloist, Camille Robertson of El Dorado, sang the "Theme from Love Story" and as the bride walked down the aisle, she sang "One Hand, One Heart". As the couple knelt "The Lord's Prayer" was sung.

Honeysuckle and ivy covered the altar arch. Fourteen yellow candles and baskets of yellow and white daisies and babies breath decorated the church.

The bride chose a gown of exclusive design, featuring an empire a-line of silk organza and cotton venise lace with a ruffled bodice, neckline and cuffs. The ruffles were repeated on the bottom of the skirt. Tiny rosettes fashioned the back of the gown. Her headpiece of venise daisies studded with pearls and centered with a pearl drop encircled the bride's face. The headpiece was secured to English silk illusion edged with matching ruffle and sweeping down into a chapel length Mantilla.

The bride was given in marriage by her two brothers, S. R. Harris and Bill Harris. She was escorted to the altar by her uncle, Elery E. Harris, of Magnolia.

Her bridesmaids' dresses were of yellow dotted swiss imprinted with tiny white flowers. Embroidered lace entwined with green ribbon trimmed the dresses. White straw hats with green ribbon completed the country theme. Baskets of daisies and babies breath were carried by each bridesmaid. Paula Bollinger of Nashville, was maid of honor. Kay Young of Dallas, Jan Harris, niece of the bride, and Pam Welch of McGehee served as bridesmaids.

Jerry Lawrence, Doug Smith, and Jerry Don Wyeth all of McGehee were groomsmen. Serving as bestman was Larry Welch, also of McGehee. Willie Strickland, nephew of the bride, and Allan Ray of Nashville, seated the guests.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Harris chose an aqua dress with lace bodice. Her accessories were white and she pinned on a white orchid. The groom's mother chose beige and wore a yellow orchid.

Mrs. Bobbie May of Stamps, Barbie Linville of Nashville, and Carla Turner of Hope served at the reception table. Yellow and white daisies decorated the reception table. A hand blown glass wishing well and glass wedding bells topped the cake.

Out-of-town guest registered from McGehee, Gould, Grady, Little Rock, Pine Bluff, Brinkley, Rison, Monticello, Prescott, Magnolia, Bluff City, Waldo, Hope, Texarkana, El Dorado, Stamps, Ft. Worth, and San Antonio, Texas.

The couples honeymooned in Heber Springs. Their new home will be at 9211 Adkins in Little Rock.

DR. GRIFFIN Earns degree

Charles Griffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Griffin of Hope, received a Ph.D. degree in sociology at Iowa State University May 27.

Mrs. Charles S. Griffin and Mrs. George Dodds attended the graduation ceremony in Ames, Iowa.

Dr. Griffin is a former graduate from the University of Arkansas where he received the BA in 1965 and the MA in 1967.

After finishing his training at the University of Arkansas, Dr. Griffin served as a faculty member at Southwest Missouri State College and Wisconsin State University-La Crosse.

For the past three years, he has served on a research project, concerned with predicting behavior in disaster situations, at Iowa State University. As a result of this research, Dr. Griffin has authored several research monographs and journal articles.

Dr. Griffin has been appointed to the faculty of the sociology department at the University of Oklahoma effective September 1972.

He and his family will be making their home in Norman, Okla.

Pitching Perrys do their thing

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The pitching Perrys did their thing Tuesday night and, for what may have been the first time ever in their careers, Jim wound up wetter than Gaylord.

Batters have always accused Gaylord of loading up the base-ball with something moist but they couldn't blame Jim if he was serving wet ones against Detroit. That's what happens when you're working in the rain.

Tornado warnings kept Minnesota fans on their toes Tuesday night and the Twins managed to get six innings of their game in against Detroit with Jim Perry winning, 3-1.

It was drier in California, where brother Gaylord Perry tried for his 11th victory of the season for Cleveland but lost to the Angels 3-2 in 11 innings.

Elsewhere in the American League, Chicago blanked New York 2-0, Texas shut out Milwaukee 4-0, Kansas City topped Boston 4-2 and Baltimore defeated Oakland 5-1.

In the National League, Hank Aaron's 650th career homer gave Atlanta a 6-5 victory over New York in 10 innings, San Diego edged Chicago 4-3, Montreal downed Houston 5-1, Los Angeles edged St. Louis 2-1 and Cincinnati swept a double-header from Philadelphia, 8-4 and 4-2. San Francisco's game at Pittsburgh was rained out.

The Twins and Tigers spent 3 hours, 26 minutes on the field in Minnesota and only 1:48 of that time was taken up with playing baseball. There was a 40 minute rain delay in the fourth inning and then, when the game resumed, the teams made it into the seventh before the skies opened again.

By that time, Perry and the Twins were leading 3-1 and rooting for the moisture to keep coming. Rod Carew drove in two of Minnesota's runs with a pair of singles and Tony Oliva picked up his first RBI with another hit.

Gaylord mowed down the first 12 California batters and took a 2-0 lead into the seventh inning. But Mickey Rivers doubled and Vada Pinson singled before Bob Oliver chased both runners home with a double.

That sent the game into overtime and the Angels won it in the 11th when Perry hit Rivers with a pitch to open the inning. An infield out advanced the runner and then Oliver was walked intentionally. Ken McMullen bounced to short and the Indians went for the inning-ending double play. But Jack Brohamer's relay to first was wild and Rivers scored.

Pete Broberg, who spent the weekend picking up his bachelor's degree in economics from Dartmouth University allowed a frugal three hits against Milwaukee and pitched Texas past the Brewers.

Broberg, 5-4, struck out six and drove in two runs with a fourth inning double.

Maxie doesn't remember he once was the champ

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SOUTH PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Slapsie Maxie Rosenbloom ranks as one of boxing's beloved. He was a master boxer without the kayo punch. He was an actor who could deliver punch lines. As a restaurant host, he made all guests feel like winners.

Today, Maxie can't remember how great he was. He can't remember his friends. The toll of 289 professional fights, including the time he was lightweight champion of the world, has stopped him.

He's confined in a sanatorium under care of the Motion Picture and Television Fund. Physically he's fine for a man of 63.

Back in 1925, he fought to no decision against middleweight champ Harry Greb, and he beat Jim Braddock and Mickey Walker along the line plus Ace Hudkins, Lou Nova and Lee Ranage.

Braddock was to become heavyweight champion and Walker was the best of the middleweights in his prime.

In 1932, Rosenbloom had 30 main events the following year he was a headliner 25 times. He fought often and he boxed well, holding the 175-pound title 1930-34, but he was hit.

Medicine for the Motion Picture and Television Fund, says, "He has a good deal of damage to his brain, the intellectual portion. There is a loss of memory and he is confused. He lacks judgment and mental responsibility."

Jones says examinations by neurologists and psychologists indicate the condition stems from the aggregate blows Rosenbloom took in the ring.

Asked how this should occur in the past year or two after Rosenbloom had been long retired from the ring, had appeared in more than 100 films and operated his own restaurant, the physician said, "I have seen it in other instances."

Five years ago Maxie began having trouble with his hearing. Then his friends noticed he was having other troubles. He wasn't boisterous or pugnacious. Mostly forgetful.

Friends asked that he be helped and the aid was forthcoming. But even with the help, doctors fear that former boxing champion Maxie Rosenbloom never will remember he once was the champ.

Nicklaus is solid favorite

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus carries a torrid love affair with a golf course into the 72nd U.S. Open championship Thursday as the solid 6-1 favorite to add the second leg to an unprecedented professional Grand Slam.

"This is the finest strategy golf course in the world," the Masters titleholder said as he prepared for his final tuneup today on the wind-whipped Pebble Beach links that has most of the other 149 competitors chewing on their fingernails.

"You have to use your head to win here," Nicklaus added. "Like Augusta, it is a position course. You must place your tee shots in the right position."

Nicklaus, who needs to add the U.S. and the British Opens and the U.S. PGA to his list of 12 major championships to complete a sweep that has escaped all golfing giants of the past, was asked by one interviewer what is his favorite course.

He needed only a moment to reply.

"I like Pebble Beach better than any of them," he said. It was here that he won one of his two U.S. Amateur titles, in 1961 and the Crosby in 1967 and 1972.

Nicklaus' ardor for the 6,815-yard course that winds along the crashing waves of Carmel Bay is not shared by many of his adversaries in the star-studded field teeing off Thursday at 10:30 a.m. EDT.

"If it's such a great golf course," grouched Frank Beard, "why do they have to add 100 traps and add acres of knee-high rough?" Both Arnold Palmer and South Africa's Gary Player chimed in with criticism of the fresh sand in the bunkers.

"I think there is too much sand—you can lose a ball in the bunkers," said Player.

"At all Open courses, you can expect new rough, tighter fairways and new sand," added Palmer. "I think the new sand could have been added a year ago to allow time to settle."

Former Masters champion George Archer, a native of the area, had the most graphic reply when asked what he thought about the course.

"What course?" Archer answered. "I can't find it. After practicing here, I've got to go home and let my mind recuperate."

Defending champion Lee Trevino, recovering from a case of viral pneumonia, was due to make a dramatic appearance on the scene today and perhaps go into the tournament without a practice round.

He rates as a second choice behind Nicklaus at 8-1 along with Player and young Jerry Heard, who has won more than $100,000 on tour this year. Britain's Tony Jacklin is snapping back from his slump of 1971 and the 42-year-old Palmer, honed by 21 days of unbroken golf, is seeking his first major title since the 1964 Masters.

Aaron moves closer to Babe's record

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"When I heard that thing pop, I knew it was time to go home," said Atlanta Braves pitcher Pat Jarvis.

The "thing" was Hank Aaron's bat and the "pop" was his 650th career home run, a whack that helped Atlanta beat the clownish New York Mets 6-5 in 10 innings Tuesday night.

Actually, it should have never gotten that far in the first place. For the second straight night, New York center fielder Tommie Agee committed a crucial error that permitted a late Atlanta comeback.

Aaron's drive, moving him closer to Babe Ruth's record 714, was belted deep into left-center field. But he would have never had the chance had not Agee dropped his line drive in the eighth inning.

The Braves eventually scored three runs off Tom Seaver to tie the game at 5-5 and set the stage for Aaron's dramatic walk-off in the 10th, his 11th homer of the season.

"Tommie is a helluva ball-player," said Aaron, going to the defense of the Mets' outfielder. "About all you can do is talk to yourself when things like that happen."

The loss dropped the Mets one-half game behind the Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League East. The Pirates' game with San Francisco was postponed by rain Tuesday night.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Philadelphia Phillies in a doubleheader, 8-4 and 4-2; the Los Angeles Dodgers trounced the St. Louis Cardinals 3-1; the Montreal Expos defeated the Houston Astros 5-1 and the San Diego Padres turned back the Chicago Cubs 4-3.

In the American League, it was Kansas City 4, Boston 2, Chicago 2, New York 0; Minnesota 3, Detroit 1 in a game halted after six innings by rain. Texas 4, Milwaukee 0; Baltimore 5, Oakland 1 and California 3, Cleveland 2 in 11 innings.

Cincinnati continued to streak with its double triumph over hapless Philadelphia, recording its 13th victory in the last 14 games.

Denis Menke drove in three runs with a single and triple as the Reds won the opener. Tight pitching by Ross Grimsley and Pedro Borbon in the nightcap helped complete the sweep.

The day's success kept the Reds two games in front of Los Angeles in the National League West.

Manny Mota stole home in the sixth inning and then helped Los Angeles build a vital run with a sacrifice in the eighth as the Dodgers beat the Cardinals.

The 34-year-old Mota broke up a scoreless pitching duel between Tommy John and the Cardinals' Scipio Spinks with his daring steal of home. Los Angeles scored the winning run in the eighth on Maury Wills' single. Mota's sacrifice and a single by Bill Buckner.

Montreal's Mike Torrez pitched a three-hitter and Mike Jorgensen ripped a two-run homer to give the Expos their triumph over Houston.

"They hit some good balls but we made some great plays to get them out," said Torrez.

Leron Lee smashed a two-run homer in the first inning and doubled home another run in the third in leading San Diego past Chicago. San Diego starter Clay Kirby left in the eighth inning after scattering seven hits and allowing only the second earned run in his last 10 and 1-3 innings.

Alexandria shuts out El Paso 9-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Texas League's East Division race grew even tighter Tuesday and the three top teams were within one game of each other when the dust settled.
Third-place Alexandria pulled to one game from the top by whipping El Paso 9-1, second-place Memphis moved to half a game off the pace on a 9-0 shut-out of San Antonio, while leader Arkansas dropped a 4-2 decision in 10 innings to Amarillo, pacesetter in the West.
Shreveport and Midland, the door mats of the league, were rained out.

Senate committee expected to hike pensions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spurred by reports of Mrs. Felix Frankfurter's impoverished condition, the Senate Judiciary Committee is expected to act today on a bill to double pensions for widows of Supreme Court justices.
The measure also would permit Supreme Court justices to make contributions, matched by the government, to a survivors annuity system similar to a plan established 15 years ago for other federal judges.

The pensions for widows, now a gratuity from the government, would be phased out as the contributory annuity system took hold.
Widows of Supreme Court justices now receive a pension of $5,000 a year, an amount set in 1937.
The bill brought before the committee would increase the amount to $10,000 a year. The justices, themselves, who are paid $60,000 a year for life, would not personally benefit from the plan.

By CHARLES BURTON
Hunters and Fishermen—mark your calendars! Sept. 23, 1972, is your day. From the nation's capital to city government the fourth Saturday in September has been proclaimed "Hunting and Fishing Day."

President Nixon has proclaimed it as a national observance, Gov. Bumpers has proclaimed it for state observance, and, most recently, Mayor George Wimberly has proclaimed that date as "Little Rock Hunting and Fishing Day" and sportsmen all over Arkansas are asking their mayors to follow suit.

For the observance of this day hunting clubs, rod and gun clubs, county wildlife associations, fishing clubs—all sportsmen's groups—are being urged to plan special activities and demonstrations for the general public and go all-out to promote Hunting and Fishing Day.

Fish Restoration
Secretary of the Interior Rogers C.B. Morton has announced the distribution of the states of $5,500,000 in Federal Aid funds for sport fish restoration.

This apportionment will enable States to continue their fish restoration programs after July 1 until an additional apportionment is made in the fall.

These funds come from the 10 per cent excise tax on fishing rods, reels, creels, and artificial baits, lures and flies, established under the Dingell-Johnson Act. Distribution is made according to a formula based on the number of sport fishing license holders in the State and the area of each State, including coastal and Great Lakes waters.

Arkansas' apportionment from this $5 1/2 million came to $110,780, 20th among the 50 states and four provinces.

Rinse Procedure For Pesticide Containers
WASHINGTON, D.C.—A rinse and rain procedure to reduce hazards from empty liquid pesticide containers has sparked the interest of groups and individuals in the agricultural community. As a result the National Agricultural Chemicals Association (NACA) reports that initial publicity created a demand for printed instructions which virtually exhausted the supply before samples could be sent to members of the press.

Jim Mills, NACA's Director of Communications says "It's always a shot in the dark when you try to predict how much material to order from a printer. But we know now that the first 50,000 Rinse and Drain instruction stickers didn't last through the first response. We'll just keep going back to the printer, and hope we can keep up, but I wouldn't want to bet on it."

The NACA is encouraging farm groups and organizations to develop campaigns to familiarize farmers with the procedure and place the waterproofed instructions on each piece of spray equipment in their area. All rinse water is added to the spray tank and becomes part of the tank mix. This protects against any contamination of soil or water supplies at the farmstead. Proper rinsing of containers reduces the pesticide concentration in the container by more than 1000-fold.

Bulk quantities of the labels are available at costs from NACA; single labels can be obtained by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to the Safety Division, NACA, 1155 15th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20005.

GOP 'joke book' is packaged weekly

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) For high-ranking Republicans who find themselves at a loss for words, or quips, the Republican Congressional Committee is now packaging a "Speech of the Week."

Suppose, for example, a GOP congressman wants to have a little fun with the opposition. There's this canned quip:

"If the Democrats are smart, they'll nominate Hubert again. That way they won't have to break in a new loser."

Quips are furnished in a "political punchlines" report that includes suggestions for "acknowledging an introduction," "handling hecklers" and "handling sticky questions."

There are also comments for those moments when the microphone is too low—"Who were you expecting, Mickey Rooney?"—or when it's too high—"Who were you expecting, Rogers Morton?"

Secretary of Interior Rogers C.B. Morton, a tall, rangy man, is as a Cabinet member, among those who have access to the weekly speech material.

On political issues, the material includes these suggestions: "School busing is a very simple idea. It's when 20 million kids and 60 million tax payers get taken for a ride."

Or, "We've been hearing from the press about what a great country Red China is. I won't believe it until its people are allowed to leave on their own. Freeing is believing."

One suggested speech is titled "Our Moving President, Our Sitting Congress." It carries the explanatory note: "This text has been prepared to provide background information on the highlights of the Nixon administration's record to date—and failure of the Democratic leadership which controls Congress to act on vitally needed legislation."

It begins: "The season of the feather merchant is upon us." For Republican who were asked for a few patriotic words to honor the nation's war dead, there was a speech entitled "Memorial Day 1972—What It Means."

The speeches are written or compiled by the committee's public relations staff of four male writers and two female secretaries.

"We get good reception from them," said David LeRoy, publications director who also supervises the committee's News-letter Notes. "What we do with 'the speech of the week' is take one that looks interesting and send it out to members to use or for grist for their newsletters."

Land is leased for state park

The Arkansas Department of Parks and Tourism received last Wednesday a 30-year lease on 915 acres on DeGray Reservoir from the U.S. Corps of Engineers. The land will be used for a state park.

A copy of the lease, which was obtained through the Vicksburg office of the Corps of Engineers, has been forwarded to the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation office in Atlanta for review. Approval is expected within two weeks.

The DeGray Park will eventually feature a 100-room lodge, restaurant, golf course, marina, stables and an amphitheater, in addition to extensive camping and picnic facilities.

Boiling it down

NEW YORK (AP) — What is heaven?

It isn't always a simple thing and it isn't always in the same place. Heaven changes, too. It changes just as people, trees, moods and clouds do.

Sometimes heaven stays the same thing and in the same place for years. Then there are other times when it changes almost daily—like the pages of a calendar.

Here are some of the things that heaven can be to almost any man at different stages of his life:

At one year old it is beating on a big tin pan with a big wooden spoon.

At 5 it is drawing and coloring the prettiest white lamp in kindergarten.

At 8 heaven is winning a game of mumbledy-peg without sticking the knife in your arm.

At 10 it is being able to hang by your heels from the school-yard iron play bars.

At 13 or 14 it is standing in the front row of your grammar school graduating class and singing "Oh, Genevieve, Sweet Genevieve," in a falsetto voice wandering uncontrollably from alto to soprano.

At 16 a boy is in paradise shaving for the first time with his father's razor.

At 17 he's there when he drives a pretty red-haired girl to the Senior Prom in the family car.

At 18 it's being a summer waiter at a mountain resort where well-to-do parents bring their lonely but lovely and responsive daughters.

At 19, fighting in a war in a foreign land, a man finds his Valhalla alive squirming behind the provident shelter of a big rock during an artillery bombardment.

At 21 he finds it in the sight of a flapping banner across the street where he lives, welcoming him home with his souvenirs—a Good Conduct Ribbon, an honorable discharge, a Purple Heart Medal, a piece of shrapnel somewhere in his knee.

At 22 heaven is two lumps of gladness in his throat—the day he gets the first paycheck on his lifetime job, the day the right girl proves at the altar she really meant yes.

At 25 heaven is the fearful day he goes to work with a smaller firm that pays less at the start but offers bigger opportunities sooner—and discovers he likes the new place.

After that heaven begins to come more slowly.

At 40 it is being told by an orthodontist that the last of his three children won't have to have his teeth straightened.

At 47 it is kissing his first grandchild.

At 65 it is a gold watch, a farewell letter from his boss.

and time to watch more sunsets.

At 72 it is celebrating his golden wedding anniversary, still with the same old girl.

An at 80, heaven is—well, heaven is where he has been for three years now and finally decided is a better place to live in rather than just visit.

Privies may be problem at Miami

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Privies, not police, may prove to be the biggest problem for the 100,000 protesters expected at this summer's national political conventions, says the man responsible for public sanitation facilities.

"We project that we'll need about 500 portable toilets—minimum—to provide facilities for a crowd of 100,000 campers," said John Eckoff of the Dade County Public Health Department.

"Even with 500 portable johns, that would allow each person only six minutes a day on a 24-hour-a-day basis," Eckoff said. "They'll have to line up for blocks during the daytime when everybody's up and about. I can guarantee you that nobody's going to get a chance to do much reading."

Eckoff said Tuesday that it would cost about $115,000 to provide and service 500 portable toilets from the July 10 opening of the Democratic National Convention to the end of the Republican National Convention Aug. 23.

A coalition of protest groups including the Yippies, Gay Liberation Front, Vietnam Veterans Against the War and Southern Christian Leadership Conference has asked the city to provide camping space for 100,000 nondelegates for the six-week period.

"It wouldn't be so bad if these protesters were only going to be here for a few days," Eckoff said, "but we'll have them around for a month or six weeks. An awful lot of health problems can develop in that time."

"Some of them are going to be doing their own cooking, and we know that could mean outbreaks of intestinal diseases," he said. "Now suppose 15,000 that's only 15 per cent—come down with the GIs (diarrhea). What are we going to do?"

Eckoff said the city also could face a major problem with water and food supplies for the protesters.

"Another thing we're worrying about is garbage," Eckoff said. "It's going to take more trash cans and more manpower to haul away garbage from the campsites, otherwise we're faced with another disease-threatening situation."

Attend dinner

Victory celebration missed by McClellan

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan's victory celebration was on Tuesday night minus one person—the 76-year-old senator himself. A McClellan campaign aide, Bobby Allison of Conway, reported about 11 p.m. Tuesday that the senator had received two phone calls threatening his life.

Because of that, Allison said the senator, who then was carrying 52 per cent of the vote would be going "straight home."

Allison said McClellan received the first call shortly before his first televised speech at 9:25 p.m. The senator's campaign manager, John Elrod, answered the second call.

Three Little Rock policemen were at McClellan headquarters as election returns poured in, but they said they knew nothing about the phone calls.

Amid the tension surrounding the calls, however, the McClellan campaigners were jubilant from the time the first returns came in from Searcy County.

In fact, amid shouts of "Yea, Uncle John!", the veteran senator's first speech was barely audible. "I just couldn't believe that people could repudiate my record," he said.

Campaigners at McClellan's headquarters Tuesday night seemingly came from almost every social status despite their lapel stickers which read: "I'm upper crust"—a terse reply to Rep. David Pryor's charge that McClellan had only represented society's top 15 per cent.

There were the young voters—the 18-to-21-year-olds who just acquired the voting franchise, the elderly voters who have been with McClellan throughout his 30 years in the Senate, a few blacks, many whites and even a small black poodle named Minwee.

One of these supporters was McClellan's administrative assistant, Buddy Whiteker, who said he considers McClellan's re-nomination "a victory for the system."

"The system worked beautifully in this case," Whiteker said.

Another McClellan supporter added, "He's an old trouser."

Mafia probe continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional committee investigating alleged mafia penetration of professional sports continues its probe today into the proposed domed stadium in Buffalo, N.Y., and the dealings of the Empire Corp.

The corporation recently was convicted in Los Angeles of conspiring to acquire a hidden interest in a Las Vegas hotel and casino.

Presents program

Lions Monday luncheon program was presented by Jess Barnes who spoke on the work of the Hempstead County Rescue Unit.

Barnes is a native of Grand Rapids, Mich., and now lives near the Spring Hill community. Barnes is a physicians assistant at Branch Hospital. This is a comparatively new profession in which young men take the first few years of a doctors' course and then take intensive technical training. He stated that P.A.'s were not doctors but trained to help them in many ways.

Because of his training Barnes became involved with the Hempstead County Rescue Unit. Knowing what is needed in emergency work, the equipment of the rescue unit is being supplemented with some new equipment. Among the items mentioned is a power saw that can be used to cut steel, concrete, or wood, and a "Porta-Power" hydraulic unit used to free wreck victims. The saw is for use in the same type of conditions.

The rescue unit has about 40 members, and there is a need for a larger force of about 80 members, Barnes said. The rescue unit has a van equipped with fire extinguishers, lines, grappling hooks, first aid kits and most standard items used in this type of work.

Barnes stated it usually took a tragedy to make the public realize the need for and support for a rescue unit.

More than 25 brightly-decorated litter barrels have been placed in Fair Park. Southwestern Bell's safety committee placed litter barrels there last year and the city parks and recreation department added more barrels recently. Berh Gilbert and Rhonda Moses did the design work for the barrels using favorite cartoon characters and other familiar subjects. Both girls are summer workers at the Hope Youth Center.

We need your help in our efforts to keep Arkansas competitive with other states.

I am Bob C. Worley of Fort Smith and I handle transportation matters for a large number of industries and shippers in our State. At the request of many Arkansas agricultural and business leaders, I have agreed to serve as Chairman of a statewide committee to sponsor the repeal of our obsolete train crew laws.

Only a few weeks ago, the Governor of Wisconsin called a special session of the Legislature to repeal that state's train crew laws, and that has been done. This action by Wisconsin leaves Arkansas as the only state burdened by these obsolete laws. This also leaves Arkansas in a competitive position that we cannot tolerate. That is why we are going to be working these next few months for the repeal of these laws.

The Shippers' Committee consists of so many members we have found it necessary to establish a small campaign steering committee consisting of the following area leaders:

Name	Industry or Organization
Arnold Berner, Executive Vice President	Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation Little Rock, Arkansas
Lloyd J. Boesch, Plant Manager	Monsanto Company El Dorado, Arkansas
G. Ted Cameron, Chairman of the Board	Mountaire Corporation North Little Rock, Arkansas
L. C. Carter, President	Riceland Foods Stuttgart, Arkansas
S. C. Cooke, Vice President	Silica Products Company, Inc. Guion, Arkansas
H. Tyndall Dickinson, President	McGeorge Contracting Company Sweet Home, Arkansas
Robert L. Hart	International Paper Company Pine Bluff, Arkansas
Lex Killebrew, Executive Vice President	Arkansas Poultry Federation Little Rock, Arkansas
Harvey W. McGeorge, Vice President	Pine Bluff Sand and Gravel Company Pine Bluff, Arkansas
Jack E. Meadows, Senior Vice President	Georgia-Pacific Corporation Crossett, Arkansas
Harold F. Ohlendorf	Ohlendorf Farms Osceola, Arkansas
Wayne Russell, General Manager	Corn Belt Hatcheries, Inc. Hope, Arkansas
R. E. Short, Jr., President	Wheatley Grain Dryer Wheatley, Arkansas
Don Tyson, Chief Executive Officer	Tyson Foods, Inc. Springdale, Arkansas
William H. Walters, Plant Manager	3-M Company Little Rock, Arkansas
L. O. Whicker, General Manager	Whirlpool Corporation Fort Smith, Arkansas

We need your help in our efforts to keep Arkansas competitive with the other states. Otherwise, we will lose our industrial development momentum. Many of our present industries will not spend money to expand, others will have to reduce production and employment, and we will be at a serious disadvantage in attracting new industries. Our working people will be the biggest losers of all, because our entire economy will be seriously hurt.

New law expected to have minimal effect on welfare

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new federal law requiring 1.5 million men and women on welfare to register for work or job training is expected to have minimal impact on the nation's swollen welfare rolls.

High unemployment and a tight federal budget are expected to limit the impact of Welfare, the only portion of President Nixon's welfare reform bill to become law to date.

About 140,000 able-bodied welfare fathers will find themselves automatically signed up by local welfare agencies before the law takes effect July 1. Hundreds of thousands of welfare mothers will be added to the list as their recertification date comes up in the next six months.

But fewer than half are likely to be called in for appraisal interviews afterward. Those most likely to be placed in jobs without further training will be called whenever an opening occurs.

Exempt from work registration are mothers of preschoolers, adults caring for someone else at home, youngsters over 16 attending school fulltime, wives of registered men and anyone living more than one hour away from an approved project.

The $250 million requested by the White House, plus another $205 million budgeted earlier for the Work Incentives (WIN) Program, more than doubles spending the last four years. The program would create 8,000 public service jobs and 24,500 new job training post positions.

"It will be a rather limited program," said an official of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare which originally asked for $365 million, later scaled to $450 million.

HEW undersecretary John G. Veneman said, however, "for the number of people we'll reach, I think $250 million is enough."

The WIN program has had a disappointing record, plagued from the start by "buckpassing" between HEW and the Labor Department with state administration compounding the problem, Veneman said.

Of the 385,000 persons enrolled in WIN the last four years at a cost of $444 million, half dropped out for a variety of reasons, 127,800 are still in training and 61,500 have been placed in subsidized jobs for one to six months.

The WIN program is aimed at cutting welfare's Aid to Families With Dependent Children case load.

200 flood dead buried

RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP) — "And our brother has gone to rest."

With these words and others like them, survivors of the Rapid City flood resume today burying the more than 200 persons who died in the savage rush of water that left 3,000 homeless and caused damages estimated at more than $100 million.

The burials will go on for a week and there will be several similar to Tuesday's ritual for Henry Hausmann, 75; his son, Donald, 45, and his daughter, Doris, 40.

There was no funeral procession of cars. The survivors among Rapid City's 43,000 residents are looking for shelter, food and those still missing.

Meanwhile, the Red Cross, Salvation Army and a dozen federal agencies were beginning the reconstruction of the disaster areas on both sides of Rapid Creek, the stream which spewed the devastating waters about midnight Friday.

City councilmen empowered the Army Corps of Engineers to begin demolition of the rubble of 700 houses and 300 mobile homes. Another 1,000 houses and 300 mobile homes were damaged.

Food and clothing were available for all persons whose houses were lost. Civilian volunteers and 2,500 National Guardsmen continued searching for bodies believed hidden in the silt and debris. Some bodies have been washed far downstream and may not be recovered, officials said.

At Sturgis, 25 miles north of Rapid City, Army engineers fought to prevent a dam from collapsing and spilling a 20-foot wall of water on that community of 4,500.

Six pumps are being used to bring the water level down 10 feet, which engineers feel would be safe.

South Dakota Gov. Richard Kneip said Tuesday he has been assured that cloud seeding near the Black Hills the afternoon before the torrential rains in no way contributed to the killer flood. Kneip said he received a detailed report on the cloud seeding from Dr. Richard Schleusener, director of the Institute of Atmospheric Sciences at South Dakota School of Mines and Technology in Rapid City.

The report given the governor stated that two cloud seedings were north and south of Rapid City on the plains. The flood began in the heart of the Black Hills, west of Rapid City.

Whitlaw rejects IRA 'ultimatum'

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — William Whitlaw, Britain's top man in Northern Ireland, Tuesday night rejected as an "ultimatum from terrorists" an Irish Republican Army offer for a week's cease-fire in return for peace negotiations.

Whitlaw's sharp rejection of the proposal from the IRA's Provisional wing pleased leaders of the province's Protestant majority who have been accusing him of being soft in his dealings with the Roman Catholic guerrillas.

The Protestants' Ulster Defense Association—UDA—immediately postponed for two weeks its plans to seal off Belfast as a protest against the failure of the British Army to invade barricaded IRA enclaves in Londonderry.

The British minister's decision drew an angry retort from Bernadette Devlin, the militant young Catholic member of the British Parliament from Londonderry.

"Mr. Whitlaw doesn't want peace, he wants surrender—and he hasn't a hope in hell of getting it," she said.

Sean MacStiofain, the Provisionals' chief of staff, unveiled the IRA cease-fire offer to newsmen at a secret meeting place inside "Free Derry," the barricaded area of Northern Ireland's second largest city.

IRA spokesmen said they were inviting Whitlaw to meet them inside Free Derry or they would meet him at a place of his choosing if guaranteed safe conduct.

They said the purpose of the talks would be to discuss their peace demands: an end to internment of guerrilla suspects, amnesty for all jailed or in hiding and the withdrawal of all British troops.

A government statement said Whitlaw "cannot respond to ultimatums from terrorists who are causing suffering to innocent citizens in Northern Ireland and shooting British troops. They should listen to the people and cease the violence at once."

The IRA's Official wing declared a definite cease-fire two weeks ago in answer to a growing peace movement among the Catholics. But the Provisionals vowed to fight on.

British troops battled more than 100 rock-throwing youths in Strabane, County Tyrone during the night. A shot was fired at the soldiers who replied with volleys of rubber bullets.

Two explosions shook the country town of Killea, in County Londonderry. They damaged buildings in the pig and cattle market but caused no casualties.

Why doesn't Nixon talk with newsmen? Don't be so dumb!

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Nixon's domestic affairs adviser says one reason the President has few news conferences is that newsmen ask dumb questions.

"He doesn't get very good questions at a press conference, frankly," said John D. Ehrlichmann. "He goes in there for a half hour and gets a lot of flabby and fairly dumb questions and it doesn't really elucidate very much."

"I've seen him many times come off one of those things and go back in and say, 'Isn't it extraordinary how poor the quality of the questions are?'"

Asked during an interview taped Tuesday for showing on KNBC television Saturday why Nixon has had only one news conference this year, he said, "He's been very busy, and he communicates with the American people in a lot of different ways."

In a typical news conference, Ehrlichmann said, "You have 300 people jumping up and yelling, 'Mr. President,' and all that kind of thing and it just isn't a very useful way of communicating with the American people."

"I think some of them may be preoccupied with their own interests or their bureaus may have fed them things that they're asked to ask, but the long and short of it is that you don't get very much out of it."

"It seems to me a great deal more ... (could be developed) as interesting news and valuable for the people out of a one-on-one with Dan Rather (CBS White House correspondent).

where he could follow up and press and so on."

Asked at one point whether he was accusing the Washington press corps of being flabby and dumb, Ehrlichmann replied, "No—I said the questions are flabby and dumb."

LaVeta Mouser is club speaker

When the Hope B & PW Club met at the Diamond on Thursday, June 8, the Membership Committee, LaVeta Mouser, Margaret Park, and Ora Mae Moody, with Evva Reynerson, Donna Smith, and Hazel Prichard explained the meaning of the B & PW Club Emblem in a most interesting manner. Chairman Mouser also gave recognition to the eight new members received into the club during the past year and presented membership certificates to Verna Ayers, Linda Burke, Mickey Becherer, Ruby Buchanan, Jewell McCain, Fathel Thompson, Nelda Roberts, and Nan Jackson.

Blue hydrangeas, yellow candles and tiny umbrellas decorated the tables, and covers were laid for 25.

President Charlene Wiggins welcomed Mrs. Rachael Edmiston of Texarkana, formerly of Hope, who was a visitor, and she urged all the members to attend the state convention in Hot Springs June 1-10.

Fairbanks wins coaches tourney

BELLA VISTA, Ark. (AP) — University of Oklahoma football coach Chuck Fairbanks won the Football Coaches Invitational Golf Tournament Tuesday with his putter, a club that betrayed him opening day.

Fairbanks shot a 77 Tuesday to go with a first round 80 for a 157 total. He finished one shot in front of Darrell Royal of Texas and Bill Yeoman of Houston. Royal, the defending champion, had an 81 Tuesday. Yeoman shot 77 the final round.

"I was making the four, five and six-footers," Fairbanks said Tuesday. "I was missing every one of them the first day."

DR. ANDREWS

John S. Andrews receives degree

John Scott Andrews received a doctor of medicine degree from University of Arkansas Medical School in Little Rock in ceremonies held at Barton Coliseum last Sunday.

While a student at the Medical Center, he was a member of the Student American Medical Association, Senior Class Vice-President and a member of the Honors Council.

Dr. Andrews is married to the former Shirley Evans of Hornersville, Mo., and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. (Andy) Andrews of Oakhaven and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Scott of McCaskill.

He graduated in 1965 as an honor graduate from Hope High School and received a magna cum laude bachelor of medicine degree from Ouachita Baptist University in 1969. At OBU he was a member of Alpha Chi Honorary Scholastic Society, Beta Beta Beta Biological Honor Society and Gamma Sigma Epsilon Chemical Honor Fraternity.

Dr. and Mrs. Andrews will leave June 19 for San Francisco where he will continue post graduate training at Letterman General Hospital as a first year resident in Psychiatry.

RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP) — He stood in the drying ooze picking at it steadily with a shovel. You had to do something.

"Why you diggin', Olson?" an onlooker taunted Monday.

"Cuz, I'm gonna get me a trailer and move back here," replied Clayton Olson, a 47-year-old bottling plant manager for Coca Cola.

"Not me. I'm gonna live on a mountain," the other said.

Friends and family chuckled as they sat on the stumps and litter left by the torrents that swept Clayton Olson's comfortable two-bedroom home into oblivion downstream.

Olson, typifying the resolution of this ravaged city, kept digging. "There is the top of my water," he said, looking at the twisted pipe poking out from the muck.

Olson's house had stood on 4 1/2 acres on Canyon Creek. From the picture window of his log cabin living room, he could look out on a small island and a cliff beyond, a perch for him back.

His marriage license ("We're not married anymore," Beth chuckled), books, clothes, stereo, the TV set that had been broadcasting water warnings—even his glasses, both pairs left on the dresser.

"I never wear 'em when it's raining," he said.

Above the roar of the water there was a sharper noise. The house had gone, the house he had so lovingly landscaped; as well as the island, buried by rocks.

Olson returned after the flood, and began making inventory. His son's barbells. A lawn sprinkler. Some garden tools, miraculously hanging on a flattened garage wall wedged in a tree. Even a stranded, unopened champagne bottle from somewhere upstream.

"We're going to use it to christen our new place," Olson said.

But his fruit trees—cherry, apple, prune—still stood in the mud.

"You wonder why I stay," he said. "Come over here. See those trees. I think they'll live.

If they can live here, so can I because I'm stronger than they are."
